TOOK TWO

People to Write a Letter to Mr. G. W. Gridley.

Mr. G. W. Gridley, of this city, has had some business correspondence with Tom Lee, a well known Celestial of Youngstown.

Unlike most correspondence there were three parties mixed up with the letter.

It seems that Mr. Lee does not understand the American mode of letter writing, so in his best "hand" he wrote a mass of Chinese hieroglyphics to his friend and countryman, Joe Poe, of this city. Mr. Poe translated the letter into the language of the "Melican Man" and sent it to Mr. Gridley. The letter is unique in many respects. It is written diagonally across the paper and begins in the lower left hand corner.

CECIL RHODES, PRESIDENT KRUGER AND STATE BUILDING IN PRETORIA.

The grab all policy of the British South Africa Chartered company, of which Cecil Rhodes is a prominent member, is largely responsible for the war in the Transvaal. No Englishman is as heartily hated by the Boers as Mr. Rhodes, who incited the raid of Dr. Jameson. Pretoria is a much smaller city than Johannesburg, but it is the Boer capital, and the state building there is rather imposing. Pretoria is the home of President Kruger. It has a population at this time of about 10,000 whites. Early in the present war a large number of English prisoners were taken to Pretoria and imprisoned in the new course where Japanese's raiders were confined.
